NO ONE HERE IS INNOCENT

by Kjersti G. Andvig with Carlton A. Turner

Kjersti Andvig is a young Norwegian born in 1978 in Olso, Norway.

Kjersti has been pursuing a both incredibly fanciful and extremely serious project framework about historical relationships between knitting and death penalty, notably relying on the figure of the « Tricoteuse » (lower class woman that was knitting while she was attending public executions during the French Revolution).

This project comes true here, at Triangle, through the presentation of a massive/monumental proposal that consists in the knitted reproduction of the cell of Carlton A. Turner, a black American prisoner which is waiting for his execution in Death Row in Texas.

A public discussion will be organised on the 3rd of April in which the different themes raised by the exhibition will be discussed with Bastien Gallet, a philosopher and teacher at the Beaux-Arts of Annecy and Pap'N'Daye, a historian and a researcher at EHESS and vice-president of CAPDIV.

A book which recounts the project, published by Triangle and Monografik editions and distributed by Le Comptoir des Indépendants is in preparation.
